Presenting the latest outstanding and original brainchild of the International 3-Day Novel Contest

DAY SHIFT WEREWOLF

by Jan Underwood

3-Day Books is pleased to present Day Shift Werewolf, a creepy and comic spin on the traditional horror genre and the winner of the 28th Annual International 3-Day Novel Contest. Warren, an unproductive werewolf, shows up to the hunt only to find out he's been demoted to a very undesirable work schedule: the day shift. Is it the end of Warren's wolfing nights, or a chance to muzzle out his true identity? Day Shift Werewolf is about all of the underdogs of horror: a claustrophobic mummy, a free-wheeling zombie, a demon with a hidden human and other incompetent monsters who find new truths to life on the dark side.

About the Contest

The International 3-Day Novel Contest demands that entrants produce a masterwork of fiction in a mere 72 hours. Hundreds of writers try the challenge every year, fuelled by coffee, adrenaline and a desperate desire for spontaneous literary nirvana. All 23 of the novels that have come out of the contest since its birth in 1977 were forged in the sweat, tears and euphoria that the marathon evokes in those who dare to enter. For details, and a few important survival tips, visit www.3daynovel.com.

About the Author

Jan Underwood was born in Pennsylvania, has lived in Canada, Mexico and France, and now makes her home with her daughter in Portland, Oregon. She teaches Spanish at a community college and writes, acts and plays piano in her spare time. Day Shift Werewolf is her first novel.

The International 3-Day Novel Contest: it's the world's most notorious literary marathon. You'll cry, you'll sweat—you may go mad—and you might just produce something amazing.
